

AUSTRIAN OFFER FALL/WINTER Releases - WACHAU

It is a pleasure to introduce the top releases from our Wachau growers this year. The vintage is strong in quality and reasonable in quantity. The summer of 2007 brought record high temperatures in July, but the water table was sufficient to sustain the terraced vines through the heat. Temperatures returned to normal in August, and another beautiful September and October extended the season with warm breezy days and cool nights. Harvest began in most estates the second week of October and concluded in the middle of November. The 2007 Smaragd wines have moderate alcohol levels, in many case 1 or 1.5 degrees less than in 2006. Concentrations are also not as high, but the wines are full of personality and express lovely varietal character at this young age – spiciness and savory notes in the Grüner Veltliners and minerally-sweet tang in the Rieslings.
